TAFT DELEGATES TAKE CONVENTION AWAY FROM DEBOE

His Revolutionary Ruling Met by Depriving Him of Quorum.

He Never Had Chance to Complete His Organization.

REVERSED HIS OWN RULINGS

Taft had the delegates and Fairbanks had the chairman.

When the Taft leaders in the First district Republican convention yesterday forced District Chairman W. J. Deboe to ignore the rule of the state central committee, reverse his own previous ruling and trespass on the prerogatives of the credentials committee, to save himself from ignominious defeat, they executed a parliamentary coup, that had been so accurately anticipated, they actually were able to take the convention right out of his hands without bolting or disrupting the organization, carrying with them eighty-seven of the one hundred and forty delegates, bearing credentials properly signed by the county chairman of eight of the thirteen counties, and involving the Deboe side of the house in such a tangle that they were two hours extricating themselves, while the Taft convention proceeded in due order to carry out a program that had the endorsement of eight of the thirteen district committees.

It was apparent from the outset that if W. J. Deboe obeyed the rules of the state central committee, recognizing the right of delegations, certifying to by the county chairman to vote on temporary organization, he would be beaten, while any other course would afford grounds for appeal. Deboe himself, planned to trap the Taft forces into remaining in his convention until a quorum was present, when they would either have to take their medicine or bolt. They did neither, and now it is up to the state central committee to uphold its own rules. There were contests in Calloway and Graves counties. Fairbanks delegation from Calloway held credentials signed by the county chairman, and the Taft delegation from Graves held the same kind of credentials. Chairman Deboe declared the Fairbanks delegation from Calloway seated, because it held credentials certified by the chairman; but in the Graves county contest, he considered affidavits filed by the contestants, and ignored the certificate of the chairman.

The Taft leaders insist that the presiding officer has no discretion, and must recognize the county chairman's certificate in the temporary organization, allowing all questions involved in the contest to be settled by the committee on credentials, which is composed of one member selected by each county delegation. With eight counties out of thirteen, represented by Taft delegations bearing such credentials, the desperation of the chairman was easily seen.

The decision, which resulted in the successful revolt, was made on the call of the counties voting for temporary chairman. The Fairbanks candidate was Carl Henderson, of Crittenden county, and the Taft candidate was Dr. Frank Boyd, of Paducah. When Calloway was reached the chairman said nothing about the affidavits and other evidence of the contesting Taft delegation, but seated the Fairbanks delegation because its credentials were properly certified. But when Graves county was reached, Chairman Deboe acknowledged that the Taft delegation's credentials were certified in exactly the same manner, but he took up the affidavits of the contesting Fairbanks delegation and arbitrarily seated it.

He refused to recognize J. C. Speight, who asked for a hearing, and compelled the call to proceed, barring P. M. Fisher's attempt to appeal from the chair.

J. C. Speight, leader of the Graves county Taft delegation, wished to be heard on the subject, because, he said, if it was passed, the Fairbanks delegation would vote on temporary organization, appoint its committee members, and the ruling of the chair-

CIRCUIT JUDGES' LOSE

Frankfort, Ky., March 12. (Special.)—The senate passed the bill repealing the barber inspection law. The house defeated the bill increasing the circuit judge's salary to $4,900.

The senate passed the appropriation of $10,000 for a Kentucky soldiers' monument at Shiloh.

Outrage Committed By Fifty Night Riders Causes Death of Woman in New Liberty, Owen County, Ky.

Destroy Twenty Thousand Pounds of Tobacco in Two Warehouses and Shoot into Homes of Citizens.

Louisville, Ky., March 12.—(Special.)—Fifty night riders burned two warehouses containing 20,000 pounds of tobacco, at New Liberty, Owen county, and shot the glass front out of Bond Bros' store and fired into several residences, one being that of an aged woman, who died a few hours later. Judge Cammack has ordered that a special grand jury be summoned at once to inquire into the outrage.

One warehouse was owned by the Cincinnati Tobacco Warehouse company and leased to Dave Snell, an independent buyer, and the other belonged to John Garvey.

SHERIFF WILL FIGHT

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 12. (Special.)—Dave Smith, the sheriff removed by the county judge for failure to make bond in time, refuses to resign, secured a temporary injunction and will fight it through the courts.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE GENERAL COUNCIL

Special meetings probably will be held during the present month by the aldermen and council to pass the ordinance, fixing the tax rate for 1908. The rate will undoubtedly be the same as last year, $1.85 on the $100 worth of taxable property. The budget for city expenses does not call for as much money as last year, but the floating indebtedness must be met and paid.

OLIVER FOR CANAL

Washington, D. C., March 12.—W. J. Oliver, of Knoxville, takes strong issue with John P. Stevens, former chief engineer, that the Panama canal will be a failure, and would not pay expenses if completed. Oliver says it will pay handsomely, and there will be no difficulty in completing it. He contends that it will also be of immense commercial benefit to gulf states and portions of the Mississippi valley, and will build up amazingly American shipping. Oliver tells politicians here that Tennessee is certain to elect a solidly instructed Taft delegation.

HERE IS A CASE OF REAL ATTEMPTED INTIMIDATION BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Suggestion to Postmaster That Fairbanks Men Will Control
Patronage in Democratic Districts.

A case of attempted intimidation, which does not emanate from a federal officeholder, is brought to light in correspondence that passed between Fairbanks' man, M. H. Thatcher, at Frankfort, and Mr. Hardin Ford, of Benton, which is published in full: "Frankfort, Ky., March 3, 1908.

"Mr. J. H. Ford, Benton, Ky.: "Dear Sir: I have understood that at heart you are for Fairbanks, but that great pressure has been brought to bear upon you by other federal officeholders to cause you to support Taft. I would suggest that if you are for Fairbanks have no fear of losing your position on that account.

"Senator Bradley is for Fairbanks, as you will see from today's Louisville papers, and by copies of his declaration enclosed herewith. As United States senator from Kentucky, he will control the patronage of the Democratic districts, and will not, I am sure, permit any injustice being done any man, because he has the courage of his convictions. We would not expect you to do for Fairbanks what we would condemn if you did for Taft, but if you are in sentiment for Fairbanks, you should not feel afraid to at least take no active part for Taft.

"With best wishes, I am, yours very truly,

M. H. THATCHER.

Benton, Ky., March 5, 1908.

DIRTY POLITICS.
W. F. Tookes, Republican county chairman of Trigg county, is a rural route carrier. In accordance with instructions he called the county convention and then the Fairbanks leaders in conference with him for four hours, tried to intimidate him by telling him that if he held the convention and signed the Taft delegation's credentials, charges would be preferred against him. He was fearful of their threats and resigned, but his resignation was not accepted by the county committee and the convention was held by the party in response to his call, even the two colored men, who bolted, sitting in the convention. Now they say there was no county chairman and the credentials signed by the secretary are correct.

SUIT TO RECOVER MONEY INVESTED IN PANTS PLANT

Two suits were filed in federal court this morning by Attorneys Wheeler, Hughes & Berry for H. B. Douthitt, of Paris, Tenn., against Zach Long and R. H. Gardner, of Mayfield, for money the plaintiff claimed to have paid the Mayfield parties for alleged worthless stock in the May Pants company. Douthitt seeks to recover $3,325 from Zach Long and $3,000 from R. H. Gardner. Both Gardner and Long are wealthy citizens of Mayfield, and no attachments are asked.

The May Pants company is still in operation at Mayfield.

THREE LINKS BUILDING

Work began this morning on remodeling the entrance of the "Three Links" building, Fifth and Kentucky avenue, by Contractor Jack Cole, who secured the contract for $931. The door will be lowered to the grade level, and the steps leading to the first floor will be inside the building. The stairs to the second floor will be at the rear of the hall of the first floor. The entrance will be made attractive with a neat arch. The lodge rooms will be occupied in a short time.

RESTORE OWL CARS

For carriage fare it will be 25 cents at all hours if the new ordinance passes the general council as recommended by the ordinance committee. Under the ordinance in force now, the carriage owners are permitted to charge 50 cents after midnight. For funerals the hack owners will be permitted to charge $4 for each carriage. The committee will recommend to the general council that "owl" cars be run to the Union station again. Last Summer the traction company ceased to run the car, owing to improvements it was making at the barn, and the electricity was shut off. The committee thought the cars were needed and will ask that they be run again.

JUDGE OF CONTEST

Mr. W. F. Bradshaw, Sr., will be the Paducah judge at the oratorical contest which will be held at Hopkinsville Friday evening between the Madisonville, Hopkinsville and Paducah high schools. Mr. Edward Mitchell, the Paducah representative, selected Mr. Bradshaw yesterday afternoon.

SUPREME LAW OF LAND TO BE HELD ABOVE HOME RULE

Treaties Constitute Nation's Obligations as Sovereign Power.

Must be Observed Regardless of Everything.

THE SAN FRANCISCO QUESTION

(Staff Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., March 12.—Benjamin Franklin having been to European capitals as minister from the United States, knew what was necessary to make the treaty-making power effective, so when in the constitutional convention in 1787 this question came up for discussion, he moved, and it was unanimously agreed to, "that treaties made by the United States shall be the supreme law of the land." In the constitution as completed, treaties were accorded the same and equal supremacy in the nation with the constitution itself, and any laws that might be made in pursuance thereto. Franklin knew that no treaty could stand that was not superior to any negative any of the states could exert on it. He also knew that intense local prejudices would doubtless come in conflict with treaties, hence his provision that treaties should be the supreme law.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft have aligned themselves with the view of Franklin and the other great leaders of the revolutionary period. The people of San Francisco doubtless did not know and just as

H. C. HOOVER WILL LEAVE THE REMINGTON AGENCY.

Mr. H. C. Mr. Hoover has been working for the Louisville office of the Remington company from time to time for fourteen years. Mr. L. E. Patton, of Louisville, succeeds him in this office.

FIFTEEN CENT BURLEY

Frankfort, Ky., March 12.—President Clarence Lebus, of the Burley Tobacco society, branch of the Society of Equity, announced here last night that a sale of 1,000 hogsheads of burley tobacco was made to the American Tobacco company. The price paid was 15 cents a pound, the price for which the burley owners have been contending since they organized to pool and withhold the crops from the so-called tobacco trust until it comes to their terms. This is the first sale made to the American Tobacco company since the fight began, two years ago. The sale was consummated at Winchester, where samples of the tobacco are stored in warehouses.

REPORT CURRENT THAT EGAN GETS TWO DIVISIONS

It is reported among railroad men that Superintendent A. H. Egan, of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, is also to be made superintendent of the Nashville division, and that Supt. L. E. McCabe, of the Nashville division, will become assistant superintendent, with offices at Princeton. This is done, it is said, in the interest of economy.

SHIPS CAN CLEAR AT HOUR'S NOTICE TO ENTER BATTLE

Magdalena Bay, March 12.—With flags flying the sixteen battleships fled slowly into the bay this morning after lying outside all night. The cruiser Buffalo met the visitors, Evans stated that the ships are in better condition than at any time since the cruise began, and could clear for action at an hour's notice.

LOST HIS VOICE

While enjoying a dinner in honor of his birthday, Edward McCormick was stricken with paralysis and is unable to speak. Mr. McCormick is 70 years old and was eating dinner with his daughter, Mrs. Barney Davidson, of South Fourth street, and when he arose from the table was unable to speak. The doctors think Mr. McCormick may be able to regain use of his vocal chords, although it is not certain. Mr. McCormick is well known, as he was connected with the street department of the city for over forty years.

Bucket Shop Bill.

Albany, March 12.—The codes committee of the senate reported favorably the bill which it is believed will put an end to bucket shops in the state, by making it a felony to conduct such a business.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER

Elwood Neel, deputy United States marshal, returned this morning from Mayfield, where he arrested Elmer Baerguard, colored, on a charge of bootlegging. Marshal Neel arrested Baerguard Monday and placed him in jail until train time, and then Judge J. R. Bugg refused to give the prisoner to the marshal. Baerguard was out on bond for a similar charge, and his trial was set for yesterday, but it was postponed and he was brought here. Baerguard gave bond of $100 for his appearance before the federal court.

INHERITANCE TAX SUITS BRING OUT SOME NEW POINTS

Judge Lightfoot this morning decided that the suits brought against the estates of Annie L. Parham and Susan Temple by H. L. Anderson, revenue agent, were prematurely brought and that no penalty should be collected by the revenue agent. The court held that suits to collect inheritance tax can not be brought until nine months have elapsed after the defendant comes into the inheritance. The court also expressed doubt as to whether the administrator could be forced to pay the tax until he made final settlement with the county court. The suit against the Caldwell estate was by agreement continued until the April term of court.

The revenue agent will not ask an appeal from Judge Lightfoot's decision until investigation is made of court decisions in other states where a similar law is in force. The question is new in this state. Under the literal construction of the statute the suit may be brought by the revenue agent immediately after the death of any person leaving property to parties other than direct heirs, but this was considered unjust and not intended by the statute.

The suit against Mrs. Emma Clark, Miss Marian Noble and Mrs. Blanton, beneficiaries of the will of her brother, Ed P. Noble, was compromised by the payment of the inheritance tax on $4,500 and the 20 per cent penalty.

A judgment was rendered against the Kentucky theater for a failure to pay state license and judgment was taken against Flournoy Bros., brokers, for failing to take out license. All pay $20 a year.

The case against O. P. Leigh for failing to take out license to do a brokerage business was continued until tomorrow.

On motion of C. W. Emery, the suit brought against Grant & company, the English tobacco buyers, to collect taxes on $50,000 worth of personal property owned in 1907, was dismissed without prejudice.

BENNETT MURDER MYSTERY STILL BAFFLES POLICE

Evidence of Hurried Flight of Assassins Discovered by Officers on the Scene.

Earl Bennett Relates His Story of Affair

CORONER'S INQUEST IS HELD

Clarksville, Tenn., March 12.—Earl Bennett, the 17-year-old son of Henry Bennett, who was shot in a mysterious manner Tuesday morning on the Frough Spring road, near Woodford, and was placed under arrest by Sheriff Staton on the charge of being implicated in certain night riding depredations in the county, furnished bond for $1,000.

Officers are still at work on the case, and while nothing yet has been disclosed they are working on a clue which may develop a sensation. Many rumors are in circulation as to who and where the parties came from. Earl Bennett stated that his party were going home, riding along the road, when suddenly they came upon three buggies tied in the road and a second later a volley of shots was fired at them from the corner of the fence. Sheriff Staton returned last night, after spending Tuesday near the scene of the tragedy, bringing with him one double barreled and one single barreled shotgun, and a part of a bitch rein, which had been cut, indicating that the parties had left the scene very hurriedly.

The autopsy was held to discover the number and extent of the injuries to which young Bennett succumbed. The physicians found fourteen distinct bullet holes, located respectively in the temple, neck and right arm. The bullets were found to be No. 3 buckshot, fired evidently from shells.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury.
The verdict of the jury empaneled by Squire Davis, in substance, was that the deceased came to his death from gunshot wounds at the hands of unknown parties in ambush.

Earl Bennett's Injuries.
Earl Bennett, the younger brother of Vaughn, was shot in the right shoulder at top of shoulder blade, in the right arm above the elbow and in the top of the head; the latter wound being a scalp wound. The last report from him stated that he was suffering intensely, but it is believed that he will recover from his wounds.

Hitchcock Jury.
New York, March 12.—The jury was completed this morning in the Raymond Hitchcock case. Mrs. Dewitt, the state's star witness, testified that Hitchcock had a room at her home. She swore Hitchcock never brought young girls to his room. It is alleged the assaults occurred in the Dewitt house.

Scruggs Dies of Wounds.
Birmingham, Ky., March 12.—John Scruggs, the negro who was wounded by night riders firing into his house Monday night, died. It is given out that the mob did not want to kill Scruggs, but were after his 18-year-old grandson. The negroes are said to be leaving this section of the county in large numbers.

Deboe Wrote Too
Many Letters and Talked Too Much

Taft leaders in the First district are getting ready for the contests before the state central committee and the national convention, and they will have some interesting material with which to show how Deboe proposed to handle things. Two affidavits will be produced to the effect that Deboe told the affidants he intended to control the convention. A. H. Carman, chairman of Graves county, and Dr. Frank Boyd, of McCracken county, will have letters from Deboe telling them they must call mass conventions. The district call for county conventions did not specify and they inquired. This is especially important with regard to the Graves county contest, because the Happy faction held a precinct delegate convention, while Carman held a mass convention in accordance with Deboe's instructions. It will also be shown that J. H. Happy was not a member of the committee.

CHICAGO RESIDENT RELATES MOST GREWSOME EXPERIENCE

During L. T. Cooper's recent visit to Chicago where his new preparation and theory created the usual sensation, many hundreds of people brought enormous internal parasites to the young man, which had left the system after taking his medicine.

Among these people was Mr. Emil Winkler, who brought to Cooper a tapeworm that proved to be over ninety feet in length. Mr. Winkler, who resides at 182 East Ohio street, Chicago, has this to say of his experience: "For five years I have been more or less complaining. I have had severe headaches, and any food that I would eat would nauseate me. I would have bad dreams almost every night; dizzy spells would compel me to quit work. Black spots would appear before my eyes when stooping over and rising quickly. I would feel tired most of the time; in fact, I had no life in me to speak of for the last five years. I tried various treatments, and one Paducah, for central committee-man, physician in St. Louis was recommended to me, and I was under his treatment some time, but as usual I obtained no relief.

"So many people asked me to try Cooper's preparation that I decided to do so, and after using it for a few days, this awful thing passed from my system. I feel much better already, and I want to say right here that I thank Mr. Cooper a hundred times for what his medicine has done for me. I would not take $5,000 and have that thing back in my system again."

Mr. Winkler is a fair sample of the experience of many during Cooper's stay in Chicago, and this no doubt helped to account for the enormous sale of the Cooper preparation in this city and others, recently visited by the young man.

We sell and will be pleased to explain the Cooper preparations.—W. B. McPherson.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"The Red Mill."

It remained for Blossom and Herbert, the authors of "The Red Mill," which will be presented here in the near future, not only to furnish an interesting story, framed in a picturesque setting, with melodies which will find their way into every household, but to provide melodramatic sensation which closes the first act, where the roving American tourists plan and execute the escape from the mill of the persecuted heroine, by means of the revolving blades of the mill, as they turn in full view of the audience.

"On Parole."

One of the dramatic events of the season will be the appearance of Miss Mary Emerson in "On Parole" at the Kentucky Saturday matinee and night. This remarkable play is from the pen of Louis Evan Shipman, an author of note. Its first production occurred in New York last winter when Henry Miller's admirable company achieved a pronounced success in it. In casting about for a suitable vehicle for Miss Emerson, her managers found nothing that offered their talented, young star so great an opportunity for the display of her ability as to play "On Parole."

Al Wilson.

As a truly magnetic actor, a singer whose peculiarities of voice are at once pleasing and captivating, the golden voiced singer, Al H. (Metz) Wilson, heralded as the ambassador of German dialect, occupies the position on the American stage as the worthy successor of J. K. Emmet, who in like manner sang his way into the hearts of the American amusement loving public.

"The Mayor of Laughland."

On the occasion of Tom Waters' appearance at the Kentucky matinee and night March 21, he will offer a new musical comedy entitled "The Mayor of Laughland." It is in three acts, all superbly presented with special scenery. The Waters company numbers thirty-five people and includes a first-class cast and a host of pretty chorus girls.

Chief among the fun-makers is Waters, of course, but he does not hold the center of the stage all the time. It is occupied in turn by such clever performers as Otto Koerner, the German character impersonator, Major Casper Nowak, smallest and merriest of comedians, Walter V. Milton, Charles Fulton, James Keever, Bessie Merrill, May V. Waters, Elaine D. Gilbert, the four gayety dancers, Misses Belle Turner, L. Butler, Marie Flood and Kitty Murray and others of minor note. There is a numerous and very light-footed chorus much in evidence throughout the three acts in snappy musical numbers. These include "Soldiers of the U. S. A.," "The Ghost of Davy Jones," "Black-eyed Biddy Flynn," "Eskki," "Tell Me True," and several excellent ballads.

man would deprive the Taft delegation of even a right to a hearing.

The chairman refused to listen to him, and realizing that since the rules of the state central committee were being ignored, while the chairman changed his own ruling as often as suited his purpose, they could hope for no justice from Mr. Deboe, the delegations from Marshall, Carlisle, Fulton, Hickman, Lyon and McCracken, Graves and Trigg counties, ignored the chairman, completed the organization of the convention with a clear majority of those qualified to vote on temporary organization, and proceeded with the business of the convention.

The Deboe side of the house was thrown into utter confusion and once the chairman announced sixty-six votes on the Graves county contest, when seventy-one are necessary for the convention to do anything, he was quickly corrected and after that Carlisle, Hickman, Fulton, Lyon and McCracken counties were voted, although there wasn't a soul recognized by either side of the convention there to represent them. Those counties were all over in the Taft convention.

HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED.

By the Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic.

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being they haven't many to number. In most instances, however, the fault is their own. A germ at the root soon plays havoc with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage, besides removing all impurities from the scalp. In addition it permits new life and vigor to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. to order and the call was read by Secretary C. H. Linn. Then James H. Hap, of Mayfield, nominated Carl Henderson, a Fairbanks man of Crittenden, for temporary chairman, and J. C. Speight, of Mayfield, nominated Dr. Frank Boyd, of McCracken. The call of counties proceeded down to Graves, when Mr. Speight arose and called for Boyd's election. Dr. Boyd was seated in the witness stand between Chairman Deboe and the Taft delegates, who were in a mass, and he arose facing the delegates who were arranged in the most convenient shape for transacting business. Dr. C. H. Linn left W. J. Deboe's side and went into the Taft convention, carrying most of the credentials with him.

The delegations, meaning those which possessed credentials signed by the county chairman, divided as follows:

Taft—Carlisle, 5; Hickman, 7; Fulton, 6; Graves, 16; Lyon, 7; Marshall, 9; McCracken, 24; Trigg, 13. Total 87.

Fairbanks—Caldwell, 14; Crittenden, 17; Ballard, 6; Calloway, 8; Livingston, 3. Total, 52.

Appeal to Be Taken.

Before the convention and in anticipation of the rulings of Chairman Deboe the following district committeemen signed the authority for the nomination and election of Dr. Boyd as was done: G. W. Bury, Hickman; M. H. Fisher, Carlisle; T. F. Beades, Fulton; A. H. Carman, Graves; C. H. Linn, Lyon; Hardin Ford, Marshall; W. F. Tooke, Trigg; Frank Boyd, McCracken.

F. M. Fisher, J. C. Speight and Hardin Ford were appointed a commission to certify the election to the state central committee. Their grounds will be that the chairman is compelled to recognize the certificates of the county chairmen on temporary organization; and, furthermore, that in the Graves county case, James Hap, who is alleged to have made a demand for a committee meeting and been denied, is not even a member of the committee, and the records of the state central committee show it.

The two conventions resulted as follows: For Taft delegates to the national Republican convention, Dr. Frank Boyd, of Paducah, and Dr. C. H. Linn, of Kuttawa. Alternates, F. M. Fisher, of Paducah, and L. W. Key of Mayfield. For congress, Jerry M. Porter, of Clinton. For elector, Frank U. Harris, of Fulton. For state central committee-man, J. C. Speight, of Mayfield.

For Fairbanks delegates to the national Republican convention, W. J. Deboe, of Marion, and Adolph Well, of Paducah. Alternates, Charles Ferguson, of Smithland, and A. F. Darden, colored, of Cadiz. For congress, County Judge Walter Blackburn, of Crittenden county. For elector, Ed Thomas, of Fulton. For state central committee-man, E. R. Miller, of Paducah.

Mock Convention.

After the large majority of the delegates at the convention, who had refused to longer submit to the revolutionary tactics and fool sidesteps of Chairman Deboe yesterday afternoon, held a convention and adjourned one of the most amusing and grotesque farces ever presented in the state or county, was entered into and a large crowd of citizens who remained at the court house on account of the heavy downpour of rain enjoyed the afterpiece immensely.

Deboe seated the McCracken county Taft delegation.

Not until the "convention" came to vote on the report of the committee on credentials did the astute politicians who gathered around the man whose tradition records once served a term in the United States senate realize that a quorum was necessary to transact business under parliamentary usages. The Deboe committee on credentials brought in a report which bore evidence of having been prepared before hand, seating the contesting delegations from Graves, McCracken, Trigg, Hickman and Fulton counties, the report being made blanket to cover all. By some strange mishap it occurred to Deboe that the contesting delegations could not vote to seal themselves in the convention. Walter Blackburn, the crowd's choice for congress, who evidently wished to show his good judgment, came to the rescue and made a motion that the contests be taken up separately and in alphabetical order. The motion prevailed and the county of Carlisle was taken up. Graciously the Taft delegation was seated, though, let it be said, throughout the convention the Fairbanks delegation which was unseated by its own volition, voted on all questions coming before the convention. They were needed on account of that pesky quorum.

According to Mr. Blackburn's resolution the county of Graves was next reached. Forgetting about voting on their own contests the Graves county delegation by its chairman, James Hap, "piled in" and voted. A summing up by Secretary McLeod, the real brains of the outfit, showed that just 82 votes had been registered on the proposition to seat the Happy crowd. A thought struck Deboe and he arose to his feet and again declared that the Graves county delegation should wait until they were seated. "Just take off 16 votes, then," cried Jim Hap. This the secretary did and announced that 66 votes had been cast, all in the affirmative. A quorum was 77 votes. Then a hurried consultation was held and without the formality of asking for a recapitulation, even though the result had been announced by the chair, it was decided that it would be better to let parliamentary usages and alphabetical order procedure rest awhile and take up the contest from McCracken and seat the 24 delegates, who, according to Deboe's ruling were not yet in the convention. The unanimous report of the committee was that the McCracken county delegation headed by C. H. Chamblin had been overwhelmingly elected at the county convention Tuesday and should be seated. The twenty-four votes thus secured helped some and Deboe gave a great sigh of relief and lapsed into a semi-comatose state confident that the great obstacle had no when removed.

Vote It Anyway.

The Hickman contest, in which the credentials committee report showed that Deboe delegates had carried the convention by exactly 15 votes, seemed to have gotten lost in the shuffle and was not decided though the delegates voted on all questions. The Trigg county contest was decided in a jiffy and the delegates appointed by McCracken and Darden, the two colored men, who, according to reports, constituted a convention unto themselves at Cadiz Tuesday, were seated on some pretext.

Real magnanimity was displayed by the bunch in disposing of the Fulton county contests. "It would be a difficult matter to decide just who carried the convention at Hickman, so the delegation will be divided and 15 votes allotted to each side," was the way the report read and they were seated.

After the one report had been adopted piecemeal with the exception of the Hickman contest, the report was submitted as a whole and again the contesting delegates enthusiastically voted to seat themselves.

It was a comparatively easy matter to select delegates to the national convention, an elector, state central committee-man etc. and according to the announcement of Chairman Henderson, Walter Blackburn was "elected" to congress. James Hap, of Mayfield, moved that the "election" be made by acclamation. Someone suggested that "nominated" would be the proper word, but Hap said the chair contended that "elected" was proper and the chair so declared after a viva and may vote.

The Mystery

By Stewart Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams

ILLUSTRATED BY PARKER

In this fascinating sea tale of not one mystery but many the enchanted reader loses himself, a willing slave to the spell the gifted authors weave about him. As the Independent, that staunch religious publication of sound judgment, puts it, "the book stands the final test: it convinces the reader for the moment." It holds him, too. Forgetful of his surroundings, he will never be satisfied until the mystery is solved.

Electricity on Saxon Farms.

Current German newspapers contain an interesting account of the application of electricity to a group of farms in Saxony. The electric current is brought from an adjacent town by overhead wires carried on wooden poles. Two receiving stations are arranged from which the electricity is distributed to the farm buildings and to convenient positions in the fields for the purpose of driving threshing and other machinery.

Sixteen fixed electric motors are installed for chaff and root cutting, oat crushing, pumping, and for operating machinery used in the manufacture of potato spirit. In addition to this power equipment six portable motors are provided, which may be used for driving pumps, circular saws, threshing machinery, and so forth, at any point where their services are required. The houses and buildings on the farms are all lighted by electricity, nine arc lamps and about 1,000 glow lamps being used for the purpose.

It must be pointed out, however, that this example could only be followed in the United States on a large estate or a group of adjacent farms, and it is doubtful whether such a scheme could be made a commercial success for the operation of farm machinery pure and simple. It would appear that wood sawing, pumping and other operations requiring power must be included if the results are to compare favorably with those at present obtained by the use of oil or steam engines. But the Saxon experiment is full of interest and displays a curiously progressive spirit in a country where farm fences are almost unknown and shepherds and cowherds are still living amid picturesque realities.—Exchange.

Russian Foreign Minister Makes Speech in Duma.

Existing Between Japan and European Countries Pointed Out as Guarantee for Peace.

NETWORK OF NEW TREATIES

St. Petersburg, March 12.—During a debate in the duma on the bill raising the Russian legation at Tokio to an embassy, which eventually was passed, Foreign Minister Iswisky delivered a lengthy speech in which he said that however distressing the sacrifices made by the Portsmouth treaty, it must be acknowledged that Russia lost nothing of her historical inheritance, but only what either previously belonged to Japan, or geographically and economically gravitated towards Japan.

Accordingly, he declared, there was nothing to prevent Russia from stretching out her hand to her late opponents.

His personal acquaintance with leading Japanese statesmen, he continued, convinced him of a reciprocal desire on the part of Japan to arrive at a good understanding with Russia.

He pointed out the network of international treaties, including those between France and Japan and Great Britain and Russia as assisting, with Russia's alliance with France, a guarantee for preservation of peace in the far east.

Germany and the United States, with both of whom Russia maintained sincerely friendly relations, he continued, were striving for the same goal, namely—firm equilibrium and peace in the Pacific coast.

FIRE DRILLS

INAUGURATED SYSTEMATICALLY AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Plans for Clearing Big Building Rapidly in Case of Fire Being Studied.

Instructions for the fire drills were issued today by Prof. W. H. Sugg, principal of the High school, and this afternoon the regular fire drill was held. Lines have been marked on the floor for the pupils to follow, and no confusion is expected. In case the fire should be such that the students would be prevented from reaching the fire escape at the east end of the building they would reach the ground in safety by passing down the steps at the other end of the building. The drill is so arranged that there would not be any crowding at the doors. On the first floor of the building, rooms 7 and 8 pass out west door; rooms 4 and 6 out south entrance; 1 and 2 out east entrance; 3 and 5 out north entrance. On the second floor, rooms 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 pass down east stairway, and rooms 14, 15, 16 and 17 pass down the west stairway.

In the High school the students in the recitation rooms will go down the west stairway, and the students in the auditorium and Miss Noble's room will use the south stairway. The fire alarm will be three rapid taps of the gong, followed by a pause, and three more rapid taps. The teachers near the exits will head the lines, and the teachers on the upper floors will follow the lines.

Basketball.

Tomorrow afternoon the Blues and Whites and the Reds and Yellows will play the third of the championship games. Much interest has been manifested in the games, and there is much speculation as to the probable winner. The High school girls will begin play at 4 o'clock. From 1 o'clock to 3:30 o'clock the girls of the seventh and eighth grades will have a practice game, followed by the organization of the teams.

SUPREME LAW OF

Little cared probably, that they were attacking the constitution when they rioted against the Japanese. The idea of every community doing what it pleases regardless of how their action may effect the outside world is so strong, that situations similar to the one in San Francisco may arise at any time in the United States. Local self-government is the essential principle of Republican institutions, but even it should not supersede common sense. If a treaty made by this great nation as a whole, can be negated by one small fraction of its people and territory, it is plain that no nation will treat our proposals for treaties seriously. That is exactly what San Francisco did. They decided that they wanted to arrange their school system in such and such a way and when the authorities, who knew something of the broad questions involved, did not hump themselves to make those changes, riots followed. Some other things followed that are still in process of negotiation between the United States and Japan, and only a few people knew how near we came to an open rupture with that nation.

Extraordinary precaution will have to be taken in future treaties to insure that their provisions do not contravene local institutions and opinions, but even with this precaution, it is inevitable that some local prejudices will have to be sacrificed for the benefit of the whole nation. The United States cannot afford to go ahead and make treaties and then allow some local irritation to precipitate an issue between it and the other nations, that might require a war to settle. Had the San Francisco trouble occurred 20 years from now when the Japanese had recuperated from their recent war, it is certain that the United States would have had to back down sharply or gone to war. The common sense of the American people will not stand for such an absurd exercise of local power that it virtually transcends the national power. We may be a group of local units when we are dealing with international issues, but we are a nation when we deal with foreign states.

No Entanglements.

The United States is not entangled in foreign affairs when it makes treaties. To violate Jefferson's advice, we would have to make alliances with foreign nations. These treaties are such as to make made to secure harmony and good relations with other nations. The first provisions of the constitution of a sovereign state, is to protect its citizens shall enjoy the same rights as citizens in their nation. Japan provided this, and the United States violated the constitution and also violated the treaty which is the supreme law of the land. Nobody argues that grown Japanese should attend school with young American children, but it is a notorious fact that the San Francisco riots were essentially anti-Mongolian. A local prejudice simply adopted means to make itself felt, that far-sighted statesmen believe will yet be paid for in numberless lives and incalculable wealth. Japan backed down, true enough. But this backing down may be similar to the backing down before the Russian advance—until Japan was ready to strike; then Russia found, as the world knows, that her temporary gain was purchased with a lasting set-back. Japan will not forget the San Francisco riots. She knows and we know that our treaty was violated.

We have been so absorbed in our internal development and our own affairs have been so engrossing, that we do not realize that we are now carrying on a great commerce with other nations. Nations any more than individuals, cannot live unto themselves. Our growing commerce with foreign nations must be aided by trade treaties that will make concessions in order to get concessions. This does not mean that we will have to throw open our doors to coolie immigration. It does mean that those citizens of the nation with whom the treaty is made, who may be in the United States, shall have the same rights, privileges and immunities of American citizens, if the treaty specifies it. It does mean that a treaty once made, is as supreme in this country as the constitution itself, and that no state can make a law that nullifies it. And common sense will dictate that the people should not in riots do what their legislatures cannot lawfully do. Some other more decent, more humanitarian means to make their wishes felt, must be found. The spectacle of the national government, the only government foreign powers know, bowing down to a local prejudice, ought not to be seen again.

Individual independence and local self-government are not involved at all in the view that treaties are the supreme law of the land. The opposition to a supreme treaty-making power originates from a motive that is the antithesis of self-government. Self-government means self-control, and occurrences like the San Francisco incident exhibit uncontrolled passions instead of the restraint of real liberty. We may have to fight a few wars before we learn that our national word must be kept at all costs, but learn it we will, until any contract we make will be kept, like the just man, even though we have sworn to our own hurt.

Daily Thought.

"Character is controlled will."

THE DELEGATES OR THE CHAIRMAN.

Before now delegates have bolted, and delegates have forcibly removed a chairman from the convention, but yesterday was the first time in the First congressional district that delegates ever took a convention away from the chairman. Yet, that is exactly what was done by eighty-seven of the one hundred and forty delegates in the Republican district convention, and they had the authority of eight of their thirteen district committeemen for doing it.

The rules of the state central committee say, "when two or more delegations claim to have been selected by the convention called to order by the regular official of the party, the delegation, which has its credentials properly certified by the regular official of the party who called said convention to order shall, until the contest is settled, take part in the work of the convention."

That regular official is the county chairman, and as the contests are finally settled by the credentials committee, the delegations holding credentials certified to by the county chairman take part in the work of the convention until the credentials committee acts. The credentials committee does not act until the temporary organization is effected by electing a temporary chairman, and so the delegations with credentials certified by the county chairman, vote for temporary chairman. It was eighty-seven delegates thus qualified, representing eight of the thirteen counties in the district, who revolted yesterday, when Chairman Deboe refused the right of sixteen of them to take part in the work of the convention, and there never was a quorum present to effect a temporary organization of the convention which W. J. Deboe called to order. The revolt took place before he had seated a quorum, and so the Fairbanks men never really held a convention.

The unique question is raised whether a majority of the delegates without the chairman, or the chairman without a quorum, constitute a convention.

All the sophistries W. J. Deboe may indulge in will not change the fact that he had no right to go behind the certificate of the county chairman of Graves county in the temporary organization. If anything was wrong in Graves county it was the right of the convention, through its credentials committee to remedy it.

Deboe's position, of course, was clear. The credentials committee would be composed of one member chosen by each county delegation having credentials signed by the county chairman. Eight of those delegations were for Taft, and so eight of the thirteen members of the credentials committee would be for Taft.

Consequently he just assumed the responsibility of settling the contests himself. It was the crowning act of the scheme to create fictitious contests in strong Taft counties, as was exposed in The Sun Tuesday in reviewing the proceedings in McCracken, Trigg and Graves counties. How accurately The Sun reported the McCracken county convention and how far wrong the other papers were, is shown by the fact that W. J. Deboe himself had to seat the McCracken county Taft delegates on temporary organization, although they were engaged in the proceedings of the regular convention presided over by Dr. Frank Boyd. Readers will find that The Sun again in reference to the district convention contains the only intelligent account of what transpired.

There is some humor in the idea of the political enemies of the national administration preferring charges with the administration against its friends for taking its side in a political contest. The more we consider the situation the more we are convinced that the Fairbanks men are more anxious to injure the standing of the present national administration than they are to win the next presidential election, and that leads us to believe that the same men are trying to defeat both Taft and Bryan for the nomination. Then they wouldn't care who wins.

WORST KIND OF FALSEHOOD.

Not because we think the warped brain that makes the explanation necessary can grasp the idea, but to make clear to others, who may have the misfortune to start the day wrong by reading falsehoods, the "managing editor of The Sun," who is accused of saying in the Courier-Journal, February 23, that "if he (Deboe) wins in the district he will have the fight to make all over again," will say that the construction put upon the quotation is worse than a lie made of the whole cloth, because it is purposely misconstrued, and if what went before it was published, it would show that the article published in the Courier-Journal, February 23, and attributed to the managing editor of The Sun, had no reference to any possible bolt in the Republican district convention, and any one reading that sentence and professing to believe that it had is either a fool or a liar.

The article was devoted to the action of the state central committee, the substance of which was that the state central committee, had fixed the county conventions for the purpose of reorganizing the counties of the state at a later date, so that "if he (Deboe) wins the district he will have the fight to make all over again," meaning that even if Deboe should get the district chairmanship, the central committee had so arranged it that he would have another fight in each county to prevent the anti-Deboe faction electing county chairmen, who are members of the district committee.

For the information of the unlightened we suggest that postmasters are not under the civil service, but deputy collectors and gaugers are.

THOSE CHARGES.

The bluff of the Fairbanks crowd about filing charges against some of the Taft leaders has no effect. If Secretary of State Bruner can travel to Paducah to help Deboe run a "Music Hall" convention, and M. H. Thatcher, state examiner under pay of the state, can devote his entire time to sending out threatening letters to the Taft men, and Collector Franks can employ his entire force in running a Fairbanks campaign in this end of the state, the Taft men have enough manhood to stand their ground and say to those intimidators that when it comes to choosing between sacrificing their rights as American citizens and holding federal offices, they stand by their citizenship.

SLIGHTLY HUMOROUS.

It is better to give without thinking than to think without giving.

He who follows duty ever may find danger often, but defeat never.

EXPERIENCES AFLOAT

The Funny Things One Sees in Smiling Round the World

By

MARSHALL P. WILDER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

To one accustomed only to Atlantic travel the element of novelty begins at once on a Pacific steamer. Instead of smug English stewards, neat Chinamen in spotless linen gowns of blue, long cues, immaculate white stockings, and the broadest of smiles, fly nimbly about carrying baggage or waiting on passengers with most cheerful disparity.

The Chinese stewards interested us exceedingly, and when, directly after sailing from San Francisco, we descended to luncheon, we saw them in a new way. The long tables in the saloon were laid but invitingly with massive silver and piles of fruit, around which the neat boys whisked, making an attractive picture. Here we received our first introduction to the far-famed "pidgin English," which we had previously conceived to be very largely a figment of the story-teller's brain. It was to be later impressed upon us how universal the use of it is, from San Francisco right through to Ceylon, wherever the Chinese coolie lives and moves and has his being.

In the dining saloon the boys wore long gowns of blue linen, shiny with starch, high cuffs over their sleeves, and each smooth and jetty cue finished at the end with a silk tassel, neatly tucked through a little strap at the side of the gown. This is to keep it from slipping over the shoulder when stooping over the tables.

When at hard or outdoor work, a Chinaman will twist his cue up like a woman, but never in the house, as it is a disrespectful act to appear before a superior with the cue bound up. Foreigners in many cases do not know this, and the Chinaman, who instinctively hates all foreigners, will often resort to this method of insulting them, taking a deal of comfort out of it, even though the foreigner may be in blissful ignorance of the intended disrespect.

Some of the dining-saloon boys had been in the service long enough to speak and understand English very well; with others it was necessary to resort to the "pidgin" dialect which is a ridiculous hybrid of baby talk, broken, or rather mangled, English, and a few stray Chinese words.

It was my luck to draw a waiter who was particularly shy on straight English, and when I asked for a nice piece of rare roast beef, and vegetables such as my wife had, his face remained as blank as a newly whitewashed barn door. Seeing my perplexity, a kind neighbor taught me what to say, and, though feeling rather silly, I repeated: "Boy, you ketch me number one piece roast beef, no too well done, and vegetables allee same lady have got." His face beamed with intelligence, and my order was executed with neatness and dispatch.

I subsequently discovered that if a chair was desired from the upper deck an order in plain English would not be understood. But say to him, "Boy, you go topside, ketch me one piece chair, bring to me." He will depart cheerfully, knowing just what you mean.

"Pidgin" is the Chinese word for "business," and a great many years ago this motley means of communication was evolved, piece by piece, as a medium through which the English-speaking traders carried on business with the Chinese. Despite the fact that numbers of Chinese, especially the merchants, speak excellent English, this absurd polyglot has held its own, and it is a benighted Chinaman, indeed, who cannot conjure up a few lame phrases. It is a means of communication, even among Chinamen, so it is said; for the different provinces of that country differ in dialect as so many countries, but with a little of the universal "pidgin" they make themselves understood.

During our entire trip across the Pacific we were never off an almost even keel. It was so different from my first ocean trip, which was across the Atlantic. I'll never forget that. I hadn't been feeling well, and was told that the sea voyage would make another man of me. Imagine making another man of me, when there was hardly enough material for one!

Well, the minute the ship left the dock I felt better. I threw out my chest—and a lot of other things I didn't need—and prepared to enjoy life.

By the time we got to Sandy Hook the ship was having St. Vitus dance, and most of the passengers decided to go below to unpack. I started to find my stateroom, and I think I butted into every one there was. I was finally hurled into one just as the occupant, a lady, was climbing into the upper berth. She said, "Sir!" Then the ship went the other way, and I was never so completely sat on by a lady in my life!

At last I found my own stateroom, which was a locker with a couple of shelves in it.

The ship now seemed to stand on her nose and wag her tail in the air; I deliberated whether I should close the port hole and go to my berth, or close my berth and go to the port hole. On the fourth day I began to take notice of things, and crawled out on deck just as the ship was doing a buck and wing. I was shot from one end of the ship to the other, finishing with a head-on collision with a fat man's stomach. He was mad because I butted in on his breakfast. I apologized for the intrusion, and crawled into a steamer chair.

It was so rough they had a fence built 'round the table to keep the dishes on. I was pursuing a piece of bread when the ship did a "figure eight" and the lady opposite got my bread and I got her fish. For the rest of the meal we fed each other.

The day it was roughest the passengers asked me to get up a concert. There was a prima donna on board who was having her voice cultivated in Paris. I supposed she was going over to get it, for she certainly didn't have it with her. She consented to take part in the concert, and chose a fitting selection for a rough night—"Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." Just as she started in to sing the ship side-stepped and threw her under the table. A friend of mine was accompanying her on the piano, so, of course, he had to follow her. I said: "For heaven's sake, is this a concert or a knockabout act?" The prima donna thought she was down for a solo—but she was down for an hour.

On the Pacific there were no such experiences for us. And it is such a great, big, lonesome ocean—only once in all the 18 days did we see a ship, a big, full-rigged ship with all sails set—but seeming to stand perfectly still, utterly becalmed, "a painted ship upon a painted ocean."

Captain Porter was a delightful raconteur and entertained us on several occasions with stories of his sojourn in the frigid zone. His tales of Esquimaux dainties, especially a duck soup, where the bird is put in for cooking not only undressed but unpicked, made us glad there were no Esquimaux cooks on board.

The evening before our expected arrival at Honolulu the chief topics of conversation were the principal sights of the town, and the best methods of seeing them.

Every one retired with the keenest anticipations, for even six days on the water create a longing to see land, proving that man, though he go down to the sea in ships, is beyond question a land animal.

Most of us were up betimes and were rewarded by the sight of a dark, low-lying island on our port bow. This is Molokai, the leper island and the scene of Father Damien's heroic life and death. This Belgian missionary priest, who started life a simple unlettered peasant, so lived and worked and died that his name will ever be one of those who need no hall of fame to make their memory immortal. His will go ringing down the halls of time as one that loved his fellow men.

Ahead, another island, with high, rocky promontory, stood out now quite plainly. As we came nearer we could distinguish fleets of little fishing boats, their white sails dotting the blue water like flocks of birds. A snowy sickle of sand outlined the black and beetling cliff, and around it came the little "Alameda," rolling and plunging in a swell that did not even disturb the stately calm of our gians.

It was noon before we really warped to the wharf, alongside of which was a United States naval training ship, whose band welcomed us, accompanied by the shouts of the white-clad boys.

The thousands of sand hill nests of the magnetic ant of Northern Australia, lately inspected by the governor-general, measure two to three by ten to fifteen feet. They form a "nature's compass," the long axis pointing always north and south.

GOOD BASEBALL

PROMISED BY MANAGER HOLLAND THIS SUMMER.

Some Crack Minor League Players Already Signed for Paducah Independents.

Manager John Holland, of the Paducah Independent baseball team, has already secured contracts with several crack players and by the time the season opens, April 26, expects to have a team together that will be the equal of any minor league organization in the south. The players already secured are Earl Davis and Clyde Downs, of Murray, members of the fast team of South Kentucky college at Hopkinsville; Robinson, Heslan, Lally and Arnold, of Paducah; Burke, a crack first baseman of Memphis; Bates, a pitcher, of Terre Haute; Davis and Schroeder, of Central City.

The grounds at the ball park will be placed in first-class condition by the traction company and it is asserted that some of the finest exhibitions of ball playing ever given in Paducah will be seen during the coming summer.

Hart in Fast Company.

Lee Hart, the pitcher who gained much fame by pitching on local teams, will leave this evening at 6:15 o'clock for Vicksburg to play in the Cotton States league. This is Hart's first league experience, but with the proper training he should develop into a good youngster. He has a healthy left arm, and curves that make him a promising twirler for any minor league team.

Complain to Us.

Not to your neighbor. He cannot help you; we can and will. If you have a grievance it is mere justice that you bring it to the company first. We have too much at stake to neglect YOU. It is unfair to discredit us with your acquaintances without giving us a chance. Recently an old subscriber wrote us a letter telling how the company had for a long time failed to give him what he expected. It was the first time he had ever mentioned it to the company. The trouble was corrected at once and he is now completely satisfied. He had complained to nearly everyone else but to us. No one knows how many contracts he spoiled.

Complaints should be made direct to the following departments:

Telephone in trouble, call trouble department, 2400.

For service complaints, call chief operator, 500.

Cashier's department, call 880.

Contract department, installing or removing telephone, call 664.

Manager's office, call 300.

LOCAL MARKET.

Eggs are retailing for 20 cents a dozen today, but because of the pleasant weather, and the drop in prices in the foreign markets, the dealers in the hen fruit believe the price will descend to 15 cents a dozen by Saturday. This will be the first time the price has been so low in some time, and the Paducah housekeepers, no doubt will take advantage of the cut in prices. The dealers are not depending on the cold storage so much now. Since the weather has become warmer the country people have begun to bring in the eggs regularly.

Young George M. Good was a likely lad,
With an eye to the chances main.
Oh, an eye quite keen this youngster had,
And a fertile and ready brain.
And he says to himself one day, says he,
"Ho, a merchant rich I am bound to be!"
Now, the way he did as he said he would
Is the useful story of GEORGE MADE GOOD.

TWO SHERIFFS

THE PROBLEM THAT CONFRONTS CHRISTIAN COUNTY.

County Judge Declares Office Vacant Because Man Elected Did Not Qualify.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 12.—County Judge Prowse appointed John M. Renshaw sheriff in the place of David Smith, whose office was declared vacant because Smith did not make bond by March 1, and had not gotten a quorum from the auditor.

This morning the judge, acting under sections 2 and 3, article 8, chapter 22 of the statutes, 1906, declared the office of sheriff vacant and had an order entered appointing John M. Renshaw sheriff. The notice was served upon Sheriff Smith by Coroner J. L. Allensworth. Mr. Smith accepted the legal notification, and at once went into consultation with his friends. He will probably attempt legal steps to secure the return of his office.

Mr. Renshaw, the new sheriff, is one of the best known Republicans in Christian county and a man of high character. The same can be said of Sheriff Smith, who, however, is a Democrat.

HERE IS A CASE

(Concluded from First Page.)

Taft. I have been for Taft since his announcement as a candidate, and this, not through any fear of losing my position. I have ever had the courage of my convictions, and no position would tempt me to sacrifice them for any man or measure.

For Senator Bradley I have ever had, and yet have, the highest regard. I have been his friend, and no man required more at his election than I, and I feel safe in saying that he does not have stronger friends anywhere in Kentucky than the federal officeholders, who he abuses in his statement, and who are supporting honestly and conscientiously I think, Secretary Taft for president.

"If any fear could be incited in the federal officeholders of Kentucky, and especially in Democratic districts, or if any pressure could be brought to bear to induce federal officeholders to support any one candidate, it seems that your letter would be calculated to produce that fear, but I take it that you do not intend it that way, because you say that no injustice will be done any man because he has the courage of his convictions. I am honestly and conscientiously for Mr. Taft, because I think that he is the strongest man the Republicans could nominate, and having always in view the success of the party, regardless of my personal welfare, I am, and have been, doing all I honestly could for his success. I think the federal officeholders of the First congressional district should be permitted to do for Mr. Taft, without censure, what Franks and other federal officeholders under him, are doing in the Second district for Fairbanks. As citizens, we have a right to use our influence for whomsoever we please and for any man to censure us for so doing is demagogic, pure and simple.

"In this county, and so far as I know, in this congressional district, the people, so far as the Taft following is concerned, will control. There is no effort on our part to throttle and stifle the voice of the masses composing the Republican party. It is our desire that every candidate have a square deal, and when this is done, I honestly believe that the Taft forces will control, and that nine out of ten of the Republicans of the First congressional district will approve of the action. If I believed that Mr. Fairbanks was the strongest candidate, and the best man for the place, I would, regardless of any consequences to myself, certainly support him.

"I do not believe that any influence has been brought to bear upon any federal officeholder in this district to cause him to support Taft. I have a higher opinion of the men who hold office than to believe that they could be so influenced, and any one to intimate that such is the case.

"Sincerely, your friend,
"J. HARDIN FORD"

Horse Had to Be Shot.

One of the horses of the delivery wagon of the Star Laundry, 120 North Fourth street, was so badly injured this morning by a runaway team of the Coca-Cola Bottling company, that it had to be killed. Dillard Ray, driver of the wagon of the Coca-Cola company, left his team at Fourth street and Kentucky avenue, and they became frightened and ran. The horse to the delivery wagon was standing by the curb and the tongue of the wagon struck the horse on the left shoulder and broke several bones. Dr. C. G. Warner was called, and to relieve the horse of its misery shot the animal. The laundry wagon was not seriously damaged. Luther Hoffield, the driver, had just jumped from the wagon when the wild horses struck it and he was injured.

NAT GOODWIN

Joins the Multi-Millionaire Class in Nevada.

New York, March 12.—Telegraphic advices just received here by Nat C. Goodwin, the comedian, upon the bonanza character of his gold mining properties in the Rawhide, Nev., mining district have persuaded him to abandon the stage, temporarily at least, and disband his theatrical company with which he is now playing in "The Easterner" at the Garrick theater, and proceed as quickly as possible to the mines, where he intends to take personal supervision of operations. Fifteen inches of $2,000 (per ton) ore opened upon the Holligan claim of one of his Rawhide Coalition company. All Rawhide has gone wild over the discovery. Your Rawhide Coalition Ballroom H. H. Mining company, Gray Eagle Fraction Mining & Lessor company and Nat C. Goodwin lease, adjoining Kearns No. 2 on Ballroom Hill, now have a market value of more than $4,000,000.

ALL STRAY DOGS MUST BE KILLED, SAYS CHIEF.

All the stray dogs in the city must go, and Chief Collins will start war on the homeless curs in a short time. The chief intended to start out after them this week, but the river has risen, and the chief has no convenient place to build the pound. Although the high water is prolonging the life of the dogs, it will be for only a short time as the chief is determined to get rid of the dogs. In some sections of the city the dogs have "powwows" at night, much to the discomfort of the neighbors. Recently many owners of dogs have been paying the tax, and making the life of their dogs safe, but no insurance companies are willing to take a risk on the dogs when the crusade begins.

In the purchasing no party lines are drawn, and the little dealer stands an equal show with the big dealer, when it comes to supplying the needs of the departments of the city.

San Francisco, March 12.—According to officers of the steamer Christina Borse, the loss of life in the January conflict between troops and strikers at the nitrate beds at Iquique, Chili, was purposely misrepresented by the Chilean government. They declare that instead of a hundred being killed, 2,500 lost their lives, the troops using machine guns. The battle continued for a week. Bodies were strewn over the streets. A thousand were buried in one grave in order to prevent a pestilence. The strike was broken by troops. Workers are now declared to be on the verge of starvation.

STRANGE DISEASE KILLS.

Skin of Iowa Woman Oozed Blood at the Slightest Touch.

Waterloo, Ia., March 12.—Mrs. Samuel Potter, aged twenty-five, died of a strange disease at her home near Littleton. She was ill only a short time. Her skin oozed blood at the slightest touch. Nothing like it has been seen in this part of the country.

The board of health insisted that those who took part in the interment should have their clothing fumigated.

In several respects the disease appeared like scarlet fever, but hemorrhage, following the slightest touch upon the skin, was a complication that medical men could not understand.

THE REV. D. C. WRIGHT LECTURES AT MEMPHIS.

The Rev. David Cady Wright, rector of Grace Episcopal church, Paducah, is one of the speakers announced for the men's Lenten services, to be held in Memphis, Tenn., under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. Dr. Wright's series of talks will be given March 23-28. These services are attended by from 400 to 500 men and the foremost ministers of the denomination are asked to address them. The fact that Mr. Wright spoke last year at the services is a distinct recognition of the impression he made then.

STRANGE DISEASE KILLS.

Skin of Iowa Woman Oozed Blood at the Slightest Touch.

Waterloo, Ia., March 12.—Mrs. Samuel Potter, aged twenty-five, died of a strange disease at her home near Littleton. She was ill only a short time. Her skin oozed blood at the slightest touch. Nothing like it has been seen in this part of the country.

The board of health insisted that those who took part in the interment should have their clothing fumigated.

In several respects the disease appeared like scarlet fever, but hemorrhage, following the slightest touch upon the skin, was a complication that medical men could not understand.

Pardon Only Can Save.

Washington, March 12.—A certified copy of order issued in the case of Charles M. Smith, Sr., and others of Cape Girardeau county, Mo., by the United States supreme court, has been sent to the federal court at St. Louis, where the men were convicted on charges of peonage. There is no further step that can be taken to save the Smiths and the others convicted with them from serving out their jail sentences and paying their fines except by pardon.

Louisiana Politician Killed.

Hyde, a brother-in-law of E. B. Watson, of St. Helena parish and nominated for the senate on the same ticket with Kemp. Hyde is under arrest.

RHEUMATISM

BODY RACKED WITH PAIN

No other disease causes such wide-spread suffering as Rheumatism. It is a nerve racking torture, and so thoroughly does it dominate the system, when it becomes entrenched in the blood, that its victims are usually complete slaves to pain. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood brought on by stomach troubles, weak kidneys, indigestion, and a sluggish condition of the system. The natural refuse of the body, instead of passing off through the ordinary channels of waste, is left to sour and ferment in the system, because of these irregularities, forming uric acid which is absorbed into the blood, and Rheumatism gets a foothold. As the blood circulates through the body it deposits the acrid, irritating substances with which it is saturated, into the different muscles, nerves, tissues and bones. Sharp, biting pains commence, the flesh becomes feverish, swollen and tender, the muscles and joints throb and jerk, and the body is literally racked with pain. Plasters, blisters, liniments, etc., can never cure the disease; they relieve the pain, perhaps, temporarily, but do not reach the trouble, which is in the blood. S. S. S. is the proper treatment for Rheumatism. It goes down and attacks the disease at its head, and by driving out the poison and acid fluids which are causing the pain, and strengthening and enriching the blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

PURELY VEGETABLE

The Presidential Bee. The Apis Potomac Whitehouse, or common variety of Presidential bee, is the most widely distributed of all hymenoptera. It is, however, so busy with its buzzing and stinging that it finds time to rather no honey. Its activity varies with great regularity through successive four-year cycles. Its sting is often virulent, and it attacks native human beings of the male sex, although occasionally it attacks the female, as in the famous case of Belva Lockwood.

In most cases the patient is affected as by a mild stimulant, or as one who has been smoking opium. Such cases need cause no concern, for, while persistent, they may readily be treated by increasing the hours of labor and reducing the income. The toxic of this bee, however, acts most virulently upon orators, lawyers, Kentucky colonists, country newspaper editors, and senators. Its most marked effect upon these is to render abnormal the predominating proclivities of the patient and otherwise exaggerate his ego.

In extreme cases, the patient is seized with an uncontrollable desire to shake hands, and, while attacked with excessive garrulity, is unable to express an opinion twice alike in the same place, or, for that matter, in different places.

The only known remedy for this is solitary confinement, notwithstanding the fact that some authorities claim the climate of the Salt River district to be beneficial. Cases are on record where several trips to Salt River showed not the slightest diminution of the malady.

Instances are also on record where men of great power, learning, and ability have never uttered a coherent, explicable sentence after being stung by the Presidential bee.—March Lipincott's.

RELIGIOUS WAVE SWEEPS WORLD

American Commercialism Follows Missionaries.

Stories of the Cross Told by Representatives at Missionary Conference at Pittsburgh Stir Many to Tears.

THOUSANDS ARE IN AUDIENCE

Pittsburg, March 12.—That American commercialism follows closely the work and achievements of missionaries in christianizing heathen nations, was forcibly presented by speakers during yesterday's session of the international convention of the Young People's Missionary Movement. Many leaders in the movement who occupied seats on the stage in front of the audience of over 3,000 people wept as missionaries told the story of the cross in foreign lands.

There has been a broadening of religious spirit throughout the orient, and China in particular, has experienced a bloodless revolution of reform, as one speaker expressed it, during the last few years. A wave of religious reform, it was asserted, appears to be sweeping the world.

The striking feature was a series of addresses by native christians representing Korea, Japan, India, China, Roperie were made during the day by missionaries from all important fields of the world, all representatives teeming with stories of wonderful achievements and almost uninterrupted progress.

Talk By Morris. As compared with Europe, Asia, Africa and even North America, South America is a vast unoccupied land. If we except Australia, it is the one continent of this earth so sparsely settled that it may be called unoccupied.—Brazil, for instance, the vast republic embracing nearly one half the continent, with an area equal to that of our own United States, has only some seventeen million inhabitants—a population which constitutes only a meager fringe along the coast line of the country.

White Indian

A white Indian is a sick Indian. When the Indians first saw a white man they were sure he was sick. White skin—sick man was their argument. "Pale-face" is the name they gave us. Pale faces can be cured. When blood is properly fed the face glows with health.

Enormous districts—unexplored tracts of rich mineral lands, of untouched forests, of wide prairies—still await the dwelling and the developing hand of man. So full is it of all sources of wealth, so abundant in all that supports human life, that it is calculated that Brazil alone can with ease and comfort accommodate our thousand millions of people. Thus the distance between seventeen million and one thousand million may well give some idea of the vast unoccupied spaces, the immense regions rich in the products proper for the support of man, lying unappropriated in this mighty southern continent.

There are two considerations of no small importance arising very naturally out of this state of things:

First, such a tremendous region, so richly provided with all that is needed to sustain vast populations, lying thus practically vacant, must act upon the congested portions of the earth as a vacuum or a partial vacuum acts upon the surrounding atmosphere. It must, by and by, draw immense contingents from the east and west.

Then, in the second place, this practically unoccupied state, the undeveloped condition of things, makes the present religious problem easier. The church's mission can be accomplished now more carefully and more effectively, than later under the stress and weight of immense populations.

Moreover, the call for such action is both urgent and necessary, for it is freely acknowledged that the present religious influence is utterly inadequate. Among the male population there is a virtual shipwreck of faith. Men in high positions are agnostics or positivists, or worse. Even the religious portion of the population is uninstructed.

Again, it should be noted, that in contrast with the other grand divisions of the earth, South America may be spoken of as religiously the neglected continent.

NEWS OF KENTUCKY

Steam Tug Suddenly Sinks. Hickman, Ky., March 12.—The Bart E. L. Molo, a steam tug owned by A. A. Paris, of this city, sank a few nights ago. The evening before she had been in use and was run into port just above town. The next morning when the firemen went down to fire up, only her stacks and pilot house could be seen. They could assign no reason for her sinking. A wrecking crew was gotten-at once, her sides were boxed up and canvassed up, and the Halliday Sand Digger, of Cairo, pumped her out and she is now afloat.

For Taft. Williamsburg, Ky., March 12.—Circuit court began here Monday with a large crowd in town as is the custom on such occasions. Grasping the occasion as a favorable one, the Fairbanks followers tried to start a boom for their candidate by having Capt. Bill Sweeney speak in behalf of the vice-president. But no response was elicited from the large audience which had gathered to hear the speaker, for the vast majority of those in the assembly were Taft followers and had on their lips the picture of the war secretary, and while enthusiastic for the man of their choice, they gave the speaker their kindest attention, which is a Whitley county audience's characteristic. The speaker pealed forth his ardent and well prepared speech in behalf of Mr. Fairbanks, and giving as a chief and only reason for the people voting for the vice-president was because his state had given a welcome protection to Finley and Taylor.

Taft in the Lead. Carlisle, Ky., March 12.—Republicans of Carlisle and Nicholas counties are elated over the fact that the Ninth district convention to select delegates to the Republican national convention will be held here. Notwithstanding the fact that there is some support for both Hughes and Fairbanks in this county, yet there is no doubt but that Judge Taft is largely in the lead and it is believed that the secretary of war will be the choice of the Ninth district convention and that it will endorse his candidacy. Among the Republicans of Nicholas county it is believed that the big secretary will receive the nomination at the Chicago convention on the first or second ballot and there are many here who think Governor Hughes will be the nominee for the vice-presidency.

Between Two Fires. Sharpshooting, Ky., March 12.—"Dear Sir: This is to notify you unless you permit us to raise a crop of tobacco in 1908 you shall not raise any cattle."

"Dear Sir: This is to notify you that if there is any tobacco beds or tobacco destroyed in Montgomery or Bath counties in 1908, look out for your own property."

The above are the contents verbatim of two notes which were received by four prominent farmers here. These notes were typewritten on ruled paper of letterhead size. They were enclosed in white envelopes and bear the postmark of Mt. Sterling postoffice. Enclosed with each of the notes was a smaller manila envelope, containing two matches and a small quantity of white powder, doubtless to represent stychnine or arsenic.

So far as we can learn, only four farmers around here received these notes, viz: Ben T. Wright, Omar M. Ratliff, Walter Sharp and William J. Ratliff.

Twenty-five or thirty of these notes were mailed at the Mt. Sterling postoffice. It is said, nearly all of them being addressed to Equity farmers in Montgomery county. These notes were typewritten and well expressed and punctuated, and plainly not the product of uneducated or illiterate persons. That they were not prepared or inspired by real tenants is declared to be too plain for discussion.

"Profound Emotional Sense."

Hold out your hand to feel the luxury of the sunbeams. Press the soft blossoms against your cheek, and finger their graces of form, their delicate mutability of shape, their pliancy and freshness. Expose your face to the aerial floods that sweep the heavens, "inhale great draughts of space," wonder, wonder at the wind's unwearied activity. Pile note on note the infinite music that flows incessantly to your soul from the tactual sonorities of a thousand branches and tumbling waters. How can the world be shivered when this most profound emotional sense, touch, is faithful to its service? I am sure that if a fairy bade me choose between the sense of sight and touch, I would not part with the warm, endearing contact of human hands or the wealth of form, the nobility, the fullness that press into my palms.—Helen Keller's "Sense and Sensibility" in the February Century.

TRY A SUN WANT AD

Very few people appreciate the great value of the small want ads in the newspapers : : :

Some of the Things The Sun's Have Done

Very few of the people, when reading the want ads, which probably 85 per cent of the readers do, ever realize just what splendid opportunities a three or four line notice will do.

A few days ago a reader of The Sun, who had just installed himself in a flat, purchased new furniture for the entire establishment, had to leave the city, due to a change in his business. "What shall I do with this outfit," he thought. Then he remembered the Sun want ads, put four lines in for a few days and sold all the furniture, at splendid prices, in a few days.

This is but one of the many incidents of a similar nature. You may not have an outfit of furniture to sell, but, you may have something around the house some one may want—an old carpet, or range, some musical instrument, or bit of furniture. A want ad. is a fascinating thing, for nearly every one reads them.

Try a want ad. for yourself, and test its merits. The cost is one cent a word for one insertion or three cents a word for a week, cash with order.

DERAILMENT

FOUR CARS OF FREIGHT TRAIN BLOCK TRACK AT KREBS.

Illinois Central Passengers and Mail Transfer Around Wreck This Morning.

The derailment of four cars on a freight train one-half mile below Krebs station about 3 o'clock this morning, caused a general suspension of traffic between Paducah and Fulton on the Illinois Central for several hours this morning, fast passenger train No. 103 detouring from Paducah to Fulton by way of East Cairo.

The accommodation, No. 122, from Fulton, was behind the wreck, and after the Cairo passenger arrived a new engine was sent out from the round house and a train made up of the equipment of the Cairo train, which went out to the wreck and the passengers and mail of No. 122 were transferred.

The derailment is said to have been caused by the train becoming uncoupled while going down grade. No one was hurt by the accident.

Railroad Notes.

Conductor J. W. Hall, of the Southern division of the N. C. & St. L., has been transferred to the Paducah and Memphis division and succeeds W. J. Lewis, who recently resigned from the passenger service. No successor has been appointed to Frank Hogwood, who also resigned, and at present there are only four regular conductors on this division.

W. J. J. Randnege, who has been working at the Iron Mountain Shops at Little Rock, Ark., arrived here yesterday to visit his father, W. S. Randnege, the well known car repairer of 509 North Fifteenth street. He was accompanied by Master Randall, grandson of Mr. Randnege. The Iron Mountain shops at Little Rock were shut down for an indefinite length of time.

How the Mexicans Make Chocolate.

Mexican chocolate is appealing to New York palates more and more. Vigorous stirring, really almost whipping, is the secret of Mexican chocolate's superiority. This stirring is done just before the liquid is poured into the pot or cup, and is kept up for at least five minutes. The Mexicans have a specially carved stick for the purpose. The stick is like a slender pestle, with the lower part grooved and surrounded with several rings that move freely, but cannot slip off. This little mixer is put into the chocolate and the handle is rolled backward and forward rapidly between the hands until the chocolate is smooth and velvety.—New York press.

Why the Sky Looks Blue.

It is the atmosphere that makes the sky look blue and the moon yellow. If we could ascend to an elevation of fifty miles above the earth's surface, we should see that the moon is a brilliant white, while the sky would be black, with the stars shining as brightly in the daytime as at night. Furthermore, as a most picturesque feature of the spectacle, we should notice that some of the stars are red, others blue, yet others violet, and still others green in color. Of course, all of the stars (if we bar the planets of our own system) are burning suns, and the hues they wear depend upon their temperature. The hottest stars are blue. Thus, Vega, in the constellation Lyra, is a blue sun—hundreds of times as large as our solar orb. We are journeying in its direction at the rate of millions of miles a day, and at some future time it may gobble us all up.

For, after all, humiliating though the confession be, our sun is only a very small star—of the sixth magnitude or thereabouts—and of an importance in the universe no slight as to be scarcely within the pale of respectability.—The Reader.

A Trio of "Bridgettes."

Mrs. Herboom Tree is a great bridge player, by the way, and so is Elmer Glyn. Both these ladies snuff the battle of no trumps and grand slam afar off when they meet, and both are very high and mighty until Maxine Elliott dawns on the scene.

I am not prepared to give lay or expert testimony as to how lucky the peerless Miss Elliott may be in love, but at bridge! Well, language fails to do justice to the way trumps and honors fall into her hand; and when she begins to "double," her foes—rather opponents, for the lovely lady has no foes—just curl right up and cave in.—Mile. Munhattan in the New York Morning Telegraph.
